Menace Of Red Tape

CHICAGO (AP)—Several representatives of small businesses Tuesday decried the increasing paper work required by government as Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., opened a series of hearings on red tape before a subcommittee of the Senate Select Committee on Small Business "to ask why government agencies are churning out paperwork for small businesses at a rate of 10 billion sheets a year."

"That's 4 1/2 million cubic feet," McIntyre said. "About 10 forms for every man, woman and child in the country, as a matter of fact."

The New Hampshire Democrat called the red tape and paperwork burden imposed on small businesses by all levels of government "federal form pollution."

Not everyone, however, took the tack of McIntyre.

"All I had to do to testify," lamented one scheduled witness, "was fill out 50 copies of my statement."

"I warrant the country would go on," Murry said, "probably at a faster pace than ever and never know the difference."

Alaskan Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by the Senate's assistant GOP leader, 12 Midwestern and Eastern Republican senators Tuesday urged the Nixon administration to withhold any go-ahead signal for the proposed Alaska oil pipeline.

They asked instead that the administration examine the merits of an alternate oil and gas system that would cross Canada into the American Midwest.

The senators called on Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton "to delay any decision on the pipeline until the newly-feasible alternative of a trans-Canada pipeline can be given close study, as has now been given the trans-Alaskan proposal."

They said a cross-Canada route holds economic, environmental and national security advantages over the Alaskan route.

"In view of the publicly stated willingness of the Canadian government to cooperate in the construction of a trans-Canada pipeline, and the ultimate advantages — economic, environmental, and security — which would accrue to both countries, we believe this alternative should be given more serious consideration than appears to have been the case so far," the senators said.

Led by Senate Republican whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the signers of the letter included:

Sens. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.; James L. Buckley, R-N.Y.; Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt.; Norris Cotton, R-N.H.; George D. Aiken, R-Vt.; Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass.; Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.; Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.; William V. Roth, R-Del.; J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.; and Bill Brock, R-Tenn.

A number of Democratic Senators from the East and Midwest also have suggested a change in the route of the line intended to take the oil and gas from the new discoveries on Alaska's North slope to American markets.

Critics Praise Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — In death, as in life, J. Edgar Hoover was praised as few men before him: as a man of honor, of courage, of never-questioned integrity and love of country. Even his latter-day critics joined in the tributes.

President Nixon, emotionally expressing his "profound sense of personal loss," appeared before reporters and lauded Hoover as "a truly remarkable man who served the country for 48 years under eight Presidents with unparalleled devotion to duty and dedication."

A formal statement by the White House called the FBI director "a legend in his own lifetime."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew referred to Hoover's detractors and said "he stood steadfast against the political assault and personal vilification that sought to undermine his stature late in his career."

"All of America is indebted to him for his construction of the FBI and for its outstanding operation over the years," said John Mitchell, who as attorney general, was Hoover's boss. He added "anybody that would say anything against J. Edgar Hoover, his integrity, his honesty and his ability was absolutely maligning him. He didn't deserve it."

Ramsey Clark, one of Mitchell's predecessors as head of the Justice Department and a frequent critic of Hoover, said he was saddened to hear of the death. "He was a major figure on the American scene," Clark said. "This is hardly the time to talk about differences—right now we mourn his death."

On Monday, columnist Jack Anderson testified at a House subcommittee that Hoover "has demonstrated an intense interest in who is sleeping with whom in Washington." And he said that the FBI chief prepared secret memos on such matters for Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential bedtime reading.

But Tuesday, Anderson praised Hoover for changing the FBI "from a collection of hacks, misfits and courthouse hangers-on into one of the world's most effective and formidable law-enforcement organizations." He expressed the hope Hoover's successor would run the FBI "as Hoover did in the beginning."

Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, another longtime Hoover antagonist who was prosecuted by the Justice Department in the 1968 Chicago disorders, said "Wow! He has been punished by God for his crimes against the people of the United States. The Yippies will hold funeral services for J. Edgar Hoover in Miami during July during the Democratic National Convention."

Issue Clouded In Ohio

Humphrey Indiana Victor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey held a steady lead in Indiana's presidential primary Tuesday night, apparently withstanding the challenge of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Projections by two of the national networks said Humphrey had won.

The Minnesota senator led in next-door Ohio, too, holding the early edge over Sen. George S. McGovern in a contest for delegates.

But the count there was slow and the returns inconclusive as none of the ballots from Cleveland, the state's biggest city, had been tallied.

Humphrey and McGovern carried their campaigns into court in a ballot controversy that kept the polls open in Cleveland until one minute before midnight.

The extra voting hours meant that the outcome of statewide competition for 38 national convention delegates wouldn't be known until some time Wednesday.

The balance of the 153-vote delegation was apportioned among Ohio congressional districts and that count was proceeding slowly.

The Ohio tally, for the at-large delegates, with 626 of the state's 12,648 precincts counted, stood Humphrey 16,131, McGovern 14,568. The rest of the field trailed far behind.

In Indiana, with 97 per cent of the precincts counted, it was:

Humphrey 225,235 or 46 per cent.

Wallace 203,149 or 42 per cent.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, who dropped out of the campaign there even before he quit active primary competition nationally, had 58,124 votes, or 12 per cent.

Wallace appeared to have been buoyed by Republican

S. Viet Troops Form New Line Of Defense

SAIGON (AP) — Battered South Vietnamese troops were forming a new line north of Hue Tuesday in an effort to defend that onetime imperial capital against the enemy's general offensive.

Enemy pressure on the new defense positions was relatively light, a U.S. officer said. The line is about 16 miles north of Hue and 35 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The North Vietnamese were moving southward after their victory at Quang Tri. A senior U.S. officer in the northernmost 1st military region called Quang Tri a "major defeat" that "cannot be papered over as a strategic withdrawal or anything else."

He said enemy moves against Hue, 32 miles south of the lost provincial capital, could come at any time. But he added that South Vietnamese commanders were "confident and resolute" that their forces can defend the city that was ravaged in the 1968 Tet offensive.

A North Vietnamese broadcast said Thua Phien Province, of which Hue is the capital, was doomed.

One hope that Hue could be held lay in U.S. air power, and for the first time in the war, five aircraft carriers were operating off the coast with the arrival of the Midway.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 649 strikes in South Vietnam, two-thirds of them in the north. B52 heavy bombers launched 75 strikes, some of them west of Hue where one arm of the North Vietnamese offensive may strike.

The North Vietnamese conquered Quang Tri Province by moving in tanks, long-range artillery and sophisticated anti-aircraft guns to combat allied air power, and a new threat was added Tuesday.

Tuesday night the last remaining government outpost in Bib Binh Dinh province fell to the Communists. South Vietnamese soldiers and their families made their way to the coast where they were picked up by landing ships.

Teen Gangs Become New Violent Force

BELFAST (AP) — Gangs of teen-age Protestants calling themselves Tartans have become a new force on the streets of Northern Ireland. But their elders in the militant Ulster Vanguard Movement are telling them to cool it.

Last weekend, Tartans turned out by the hundreds to challenge police and British troops in rampages through the Roman Catholic Short Strand district of East Belfast. They shattered windows, wrecked pubs and homes and started fights with Catholics.

But the Vanguard movement, an organization claiming 100,000 members and headed by former Cabinet minister William Craig, announced Tuesday it had ordered the Tartans to halt their rampages and to meet with police authorities.

The Tartan gangs are a growing symptom of Protestant dislike of what they consider an overconciliatory attitude by the British government to the Catholic minority.

They say the British, who took all control in Northern Ireland six weeks ago, are soft on the gunmen of the Irish Republican Army, and they fear Britain eventually will force Northern Ireland's Protestant majority into union with the Irish republic.

The immediate cause of last weekend's rioting was the shooting of two young Protestants on the Shankill Road, Belfast's Protestant heartland.

Tartans claim the gunmen were Roman Catholics.

The Tartans' uniform is faded jeans and denim jacket, heavy boots—useful in a fight—and tartan scarf. The Tartan is a symbol of the Scottish strain in the ancestry of most northern Protestants.

Their role in Northern Ireland's current troubles is counterpart to that of the Catholic youngsters who for the past three years have been the spearhead of rioting in Belfast and Londonderry.

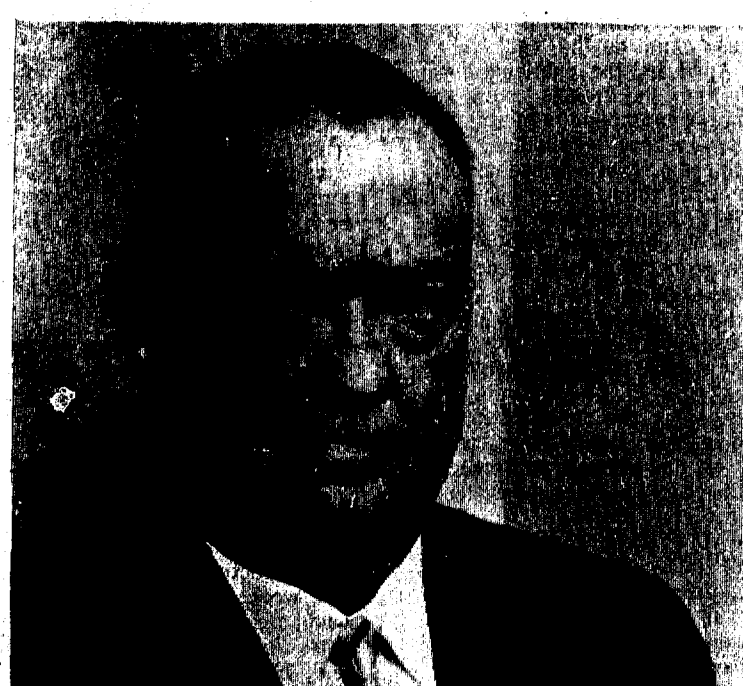

Catholic youngsters, skilled with brick and bottle, now are part of the IRA. Their job is to draw troops and police onto the streets where IRA snipers can pick them off.

Nation Mourns FBI Director

J. Edgar Hoover Dies At 77

J. Edgar Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, legendary head of the FBI for 48 years, is dead at 77. President Nixon led the nation in mourning and will deliver the funeral eulogy on Thursday.

Death came unexpectedly for the bachelor Hoover sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning at his home where he lived with a housekeeper in the northwest section of this, his native city. He had not been ailing recently.

His body was found by a maid, Annie Fields, at about 8:30 a.m. EDT on the floor near his bed.

After the word had gone out quietly to FBI offices throughout the country, the news was announced a few hours later by Richard G. Kleindienst, the acting attorney general.

Dr. James L. Luke, District of Columbia coroner, attributed the death to "hypertensive cardiovascular disease," an ailment associated with high blood pressure. He said a heart attack might have been the direct cause but this could be determined only by an autopsy and this was not needed because the death was due to natural causes.

The body will lie in state in the Capitol Rotunda from Wednesday morning until 9:30 Thursday morning, and a memorial service will be held there at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

The funeral service will be at the National Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Thursday and the President will deliver the eulogy there. He does not plan to attend the Wednesday memorial service.

After the church service, burial will be in Congressional Cemetery in Washington.

Through most of his life, Hoover stirred the patriotism and even devotion of virtually all Americans. But toward the end he attracted the heat of dissidence and, occasionally, criticism from presidential candidates.

As the jut-jawed director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation since 1934, Hoover built a unique anticrime force noted for its pinpoint discipline and freedom from corruption.

"They can't be bought," the proud FBI chief often said of his men.

Ironically, the lifelong anticommunist, whose organization pursued "Red" and helped prosecute them, probably died on May Day, usually a special day for Communists and Socialists.

President Nixon called Hoover a "truly remarkable man who served eight Presidents with 'unparalleled' duty and dedication." He ordered flags at all buildings and instructed them to be at half staff.

War Powers Bill An Overreaction

Defeating administration attempts to bury it, the U.S. Senate has overwhelmingly passed and sent to the House a presidential war powers bill which some critics claim is a misguided and possibly dangerous overreaction to the nation's painful and sobering experience in Vietnam.

The key provision of the bill, whose chief supporters are Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Sen. William B. Spong, Jr., Virginia Democrat, would impose a 30-day limit on U.S. involvement in military hostilities without congressional approval.

The bill is full of paradoxes says Yale law professor Eugene V. Rostow, who was undersecretary of state for political affairs during President Johnson's second term.

He points out that while it purports to assure the nation that a pacific Congress will keep jingoistic presidents from engaging in limited wars like Korea or Vietnam, the bill would not have prevented Vietnam, which was authorized by Congress by the very procedures proposed in the bill.

As for Korea, Congress would almost certainly have voted the necessary support for President Truman within 30 days, had he asked for it. But had the bill been on the books as law in 1962, he claims, it would have tied president Kennedy's hands during the Cuban missile confrontation with Russia.

Ah, yes, counter supporters of the bill. But had it been on the books in 1961, it would also have saved President Kennedy from the Bay of Pigs fiasco.

In a world where a miscalculation or rash act by a president could plunge the nation into nuclear hell, Congress' trepidation is understandable. What is a bit hard to swallow, however, is its pose as an entirely innocent party in the matter of Vietnam.

As Rostow says: "It is unseemly for astute and worldly men who spoke and voted for SEATO, the Tonkin Gulf Resolution and other legislative steps into the Vietnam war now to claim that they were brainwashed, and therefore that we—and the world—should treat public acts of the United States as if they never happened."

Nevertheless, not only the U.S. Senate but the U.S. public fervently wishes that Vietnam had never happened. Thus the strong support for the Javits-Spong measure, which appears to guarantee never again having to say you're sorry.

That may be a desirable state of affairs, but it has never been attainable under any laws passed by fallible men.

Pressure On National Parks

Our National Park system is 100 years old. That is cause not only for celebration, but for some retrospective national back-patting: we can be proud of this splendid complex of natural land areas open to all visitors for recreation and sight-seeing.

That word "visitors" is, however, the key to something rather ominous. Since the first park, Yellowstone, was established in 1872, the number of visitors has grown so enormously that the National Park system is under almost intolerable stress. Some question whether we will even have such a system a century hence.

Though the parks are big their facilities for handling people are bursting at the seams. Millions of tourists and campers visit them each year. Many are careless about waste; many are destructive. There is a question how long the National Parks can stand the impact of masses of visitors.

Today there are 36 National Parks, covering 28 million acres. That is a lot of territory—but it falls into perspective when one is told that all this amounts to only one-sixth of an acre per capita. Those who operate the system face a dilemma: the desire to furnish recreation to all who visit the parks runs head-on to the desire to conserve the areas' natural beauties.

A committee on park policy recommends phasing out hotel-type accommodations, private cars and car-camping. Such a limitation would help to keep the parks from being swamped. Another recommendation, perhaps inconsistent, is that our parks should be made more attractive to urban masses.

Most of the proposals come down to one: Spend more money. One viable possibility, for example, would be to develop large new recreational areas near our cities, but this would require heavy spending. It is hard to see any escape from that, if we are to preserve our National Parks and at the same time meet the recreational needs of a growing population.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Monday's intense windstorm that ravaged the east side of Carrollton also badly damaged property in Jerseyville, Springfield and Champaign.

G. Leroy Smedley of Ashland has been elected chairman of the Cass County Democratic Central committee.

The new postoffice in Meredosia will be dedicated Sunday. Mrs. Esther E. Harbert is the postmaster, an office she has held for the past 20 years.

20 YEARS AGO

Richard Allan, a former Jacksonville man, is appearing in the movie, "With a Song in My Heart," now showing at the Illinois theatre.

John Richey, 78, Thursday began his 38th consecutive year as custodian of the Jersey county courthouse.

The Passavant Area Memorial Hospital Aid society, at its next meeting, will tour the new hospital building now under construction on West Walnut street.

50 YEARS AGO

J. R. Henry was up from Woodson yesterday. He says most of the oats have been planted and gardens made, but little corn ground has been broken.

Cameramen from Pathe News were in Naples yesterday taking moving pictures of the great flood and the damage it caused. The village is still cut off from the rest of the world and the Pathe men made the trip from Meredosia by a power launch.

The schools in Beardstown will reopen Monday, after being shut up for three weeks. The time will be made up by extending the term into June.

75 YEARS AGO

The Walter L. Main circus rolled into town by the Wabash from Springfield early yesterday morning, on time and in good shape. The parade, with six bands and 40 wagons and many horsemen, was just simply great, as were the two performances. The big tent was well filled on both occasions.

Complaint is made that many boys play ball in various parts of the Second ward on Sunday, greatly to the discomfort of all who live near the vicinity. This will be a good place at which to begin to enforce Sunday laws, and the incoming administration will have an opportunity to show what it can do in that line.

100 YEARS AGO

Yesterday, book beer day, passed off quietly and harmoniously all over the city. "The buoys" seemed to enjoy the abundance of the dark ambered substance, and had any amount of quiet sport all day.

The Jacksonville Coal Co. has been organized with a capital subscription of $56,000. An assessment of 50 per cent was yesterday levied to begin the work. The officers are men of means and evidently mean business.

Writers Report On Current N. Vietnamese Drive

Editor's Note: The writers covered the Vietnam war from 1962 to 1970. They returned three weeks ago to report on the current North Vietnamese offensive.

By PETER ARNETT and

HORST FAAS
SAIGON (AP) — What we have seen the last three weeks looks like a film strip of the preceding 10 years reversed and rerun. The years peeled back as images of Vietnam at war flashed before our eyes. One morning last week an American adviser for rural development held up a six-foot-long computer readout of his province's security rating that he had just received from Saigon.

"Look at this," he said, pointing to a bank of numbers. "That is supposed to give the current status of our Popular Force units. We cannot reach any of those units by radio; they have just gone. This paper is worthless."

He walked over to a chart detailing development plans for a score of hamlets in his northern districts. "We've lost them, too," he said, turning the chart to the wall.

Elsewhere in the three major fighting areas we visited—the central highlands, the central coast, and Quang Tri Province—the sense of swift, unexpected reversal was strong.

We arrived 10 days after the North Vietnamese offensive began. Thrusts had been made deep into Quang Tri Province. An Loc was under siege. The Kontum offensive was beginning.

Yet as we traveled we did not find what we expected. There was no real sense of emergency except in the town or unit under direct enemy pressure. Neither was there any sense of political unity in the cities against the threat.

Despite official claims that the Dong Ha line would hold south of the demilitarized zone, and that An Loc would not fall, we found among the Vietnamese military units we encountered a feeling of weakness.

There have been some dramatic acts of Vietnamese bravery. Reports abound of regional force soldiers defending their outposts to the last man, of district chiefs dying bravely at their posts. But after three weeks we find few positive developments of any significance.

Our first main impression was that the South Vietnamese have not stepped into the shoes of the departing Americans despite Vietnamization.

"No one is patrolling. All that jungle is the enemy's. He will come right through it and cream us," one U.S. advisor said.

The North Vietnamese so far appear to be doing just that, not only in Kontum but in War Zone C northwest of Saigon, in War Zone D to Saigon's northeast, and in dozens of other areas.

"The Saigon government is now paying the price of political military appointments," a senior American said.

The Vietnamese also are proving unable to handle the tools of American-style warfare. The communications system in Vietnam was never much good. Now it is beginning to crack.

Radar guidance systems at the nation's airports are beginning to malfunction, according to American technicians.

The helicopter was the backbone of the American effort. But the Vietnamese are wary of using the hundreds given them by Americans.

The elaborate American bases are rotting because they are far too big for the smaller Vietnamese units. Even multi-million-dollar Cam Ranh Bay is falling into disrepair. It was turned over to the Vietnamese officially Monday but they have not found a use for it.

The traveler gets a strong impression that Vietnamization not only never worked but never happened despite the American pullout.

Americans who remain fall roughly into three categories.

There are those who are waiting out their time, like the infantrymen with the 196th Brigade at Phu Bai who don't relish being here but continue to do their duty. These include helicopter pilots, who are bearing a heavy load in the current fighting.

Then there are the civilian Americans who have put much of their lives into Vietnam, men like the senior American adviser to the 2nd Military Region, John Paul Vann. A 10-year Vietnam veteran, he is still trying to hold the situation together in the central highlands.

Finally, there are still a few military people who think they can win the war militarily. They range from desk-bound colonels in the Saigon headquarters, who brush off the Vietnamese reverses with an impatient shrug of their shoulders and an optimistic prediction, to some of the advisers in the field who look beyond the inefficiency and incompetence they see before their eyes.

But even the most enthusiastic Americans we met shied away from the suggestion of bringing U.S. troops back into the war.

Much of that American blood was lost in rolling back the 1968 Tet offensive. The differences between that offensive and the current one are obvious.

The Tet attacks on all Vietnam's major cities and towns came from within, the road paved by Viet Cong agents and cadres who led troops into the hearts of the population centers. Many enemy forces were so slender in the Tet actions that they quickly lost communications and were eventually annihilated.

This time it is exclusively an attack from without, a conventional push with massive (Turn To Market Page)

Mayor Daley

Moves To Block Democrat Reforms

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley is trying to throw a big roadblock in the path of Democratic party reforms.

National convention delegates elected, March 21 in Chicago and suburbs, and tied to Daley, have filed a state court suit in Illinois designed to stop the reforms cold.

On the list of 59 delegates are Daley himself and such other top Democrats as U.S. Reps. Daniel Rostenkowski and Roman Pucinski, the 1972 party nominee for the U.S. Senate.

They were elected "uncommitted," and virtually without opposition. Soon after, a group led by Chicago Alderman William Singer and the Rev. Jesse Jackson formally challenged these delegates as not properly chosen under the McGovern-Fraser reform commission rules. The specific complaints are that the 59 do not include enough women, blacks and young people to give them "reasonable" representation according to their proportionate presence in the population.

The further charge is made that the Daley delegates were illegally endorsed as a slate.

Under the formal call to the 1972 Democratic convention, delegates facing a challenge are required to respond within 10 days after the challenge is placed. They must give a "specific answer by paragraph, to the facts alleged by the challenging party."

Four days after that deadline passed, the Daley delegates had not responded. Mrs. Patricia Roberts Harris, acting chairman of the 1972 Credentials Committee, wrote letters to the 59 challenged delegates (and 31 alternates), reminding them of the rules and noting that they also provide:

"Failure to so respond in good faith shall automatically deem the challenging party's alleged facts to be admitted as true."

Meantime, the real Daley response came on the legal front. On April 19, the challenged 59 went into the Illinois courts to seek an injunction against the Singer-Jackson challengers, to block them from proceeding further with their challenge.

The grounds cited in the suit: The 59 challenged individuals were properly chosen according to the election laws of the State of Illinois, and these supersede the McGovern-Fraser guidelines or any other Democratic party rules.

This lays the gauntlet down hard, with a direct, clear court test of the alleged supremacy of the party's rules over conflicting state laws.

In view of party officials, a court decision for the Daley delegates would open the door wide to defiance of McGovern-Fraser guidelines in many places.

The confrontation with Daley has thrust into the shadows other challenges made under the reform guidelines in such states as Arizona, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Wisconsin. The highlight in most of these is the charge, usually placed by women's caucuses, that women are not represented on delegations in proper proportion to their numbers.

Even if Daley's people lose their injunction suit, the Illinois situation will continue to hold the spotlight. More strikingly than most, it poses the question: Who takes the place of the challenged delegates if they are unseated? The reformers never got around to figuring that one out, and they concede today that it is an enormous dilemma.

Longest Beard Measurement

Dear Ann Landers: You were wrong when you attributed the world's longest beard to a man named Philip Henson. You said he was 6'2", had a ten-year growth, and his beard, which swept the carpet, measured six feet eight inches in length.

According to the back files of the Beckley W. Va. Raleigh-Register (we run your column) an item and picture dated June 8, 1923, reported that a man named Zach T. Wilcox of Carson City, Nevada had a beard 12 feet 3 inches long. It had been growing since 1881 and was 23 feet 3 inches long when the article appeared in print.—The Micro-Film Wizard of Beckley

Dear Ann Landers: The man with the longest beard was not Philip Henson, it was A. B. Norton of Dallas, Texas. Mr. Norton, a college student in 1844, vowed he would not shave until Henry Clay was elected President of the United States. When he died at the age of 80, Mr. Norton's beard was so long he had to roll it up and keep it tucked in his vest. The undertaker who buried him was my great-grandfather. He wrote in the family Bible, "We buried a man today whose beard measured 12 feet 9 inches." So he holds the record, Ann.—Fifth Generation Texan

Dear Ann: I hope you don't mind being corrected, but the longest beard, according to the Guinness Book of World Records, belonged to Jules Dumont, born in France in 1856. His beard measured 11 feet 11 1/2 inches long when he died in 1911.—Pontiac, Illinois Reader

Dear Ann Landers: Your beardologist is in error. Philip Henson's beard was not the world's longest. As the General Manager for the Believe It Or Not Museum, we have specialized in the unusual for 50 years. The world's record is held by a man named Valentine Tapley. He vowed that if Abraham Lincoln were elected President he would never shave again. Fifty years later, when Mr. Tapley died, his beard measured 12 1/2 feet.—Believe It or Not—J. H. Long, Ripley Museum, Chicago

Dear Mr. Long: I'd like to believe it, but read the next letter:

Dear Ann: Phillip Henson's beard was nothing compared to my great-grandfather's. H. Langseth was born and raised in Norway and lived most of his life in Barney, North Dakota. When he died in 1927 his beard was 17 1/2 feet long. The beard is now on display in the Smithsonian Institution. Many articles and pictures were published about my great-grandfather's fantastic beard. Both Life magazine and the Minneapolis Tribune did some wonderful pieces. The Minot Daily News clipping is the funniest so I am sending it along with this letter. Anyone who wants proof can go to Washington and see for himself.—Lynn Langseth—Great Grandchild Of The Winner

Dear Ann: By this time you're probably plenty sick of beard measurements. Did you know the longest head of hair in the world belonged to Swami Pandarannadhi who lived in the Thiruvada Thural monastery in India? It was 26 feet in length.—S.P. of J.

Dear Ann: Since you seem interested in hair-raising stories, did you know that the world's longest moustache belonged to Masuriya Din of Calcutta? His moustache was 102 inches from tip to tip.—Chico, California

Dear Ann: You are a chauvinist pig. You reported that the longest beard in the world belonged to a man named Henson. Why didn't you mention the woman who holds the record? Her name was Janice Devereux of Kentucky. When she died in 1884 her beard was 14 inches long.—Louisville Fan

Dear Ann: Sorry about the oversight. Since you seem to be up on such matters I wonder if you can tell me if Janice Devereux slept with her beard over the blankets or under the blankets?

SAMMY TIPPIT MOVES MINISTRY FOR CONVENTION

Evangelist Sammy Tippit who has been a frequent Jacksonville visitor is moving his street ministry from Chicago to Miami, Fla. at the end of May.

The 25-year-old Tippit said he is moving to Miami to help set up a witnessing campaign during the Democratic National Convention.

"We have been told that there will be 10,000 radicals demonstrating in the nude," Tippit said. "We want church and youth groups to pray, and to send their young people to help us turn the tide against the radical elements at the convention."

Following the convention, Tippit told a Baptist publication, his "Love in Action, Inc." would maintain its headquarters in Miami.

Tippit attracted national attention last September when he held a 26-day fast and prayer vigil at Chicago's Civic Center Plaza. During the protest, in which he lost 25 pounds, he and his helpers carried on a round-the-clock witnessing marathon, and reported scores of conversions.

The fast was in protest of his arrest on a disorderly conduct charge which was later dismissed. The charge stemmed from distributing tracts and witnessing in the nightclub district on Rush Street in Chicago.

Tippit will hold training sessions for workers July 6-8.

Illinois Power Has Stopped New Permits For Most Gas Heat

DECATUR — Because of demands on its system for additional natural gas, Illinois Power Company announced Monday it has stopped the issuance of permits for new residential space heating and new small commercial space heating in most of the areas it serves.

H. G. Meenen, senior vice president, said Illinois Power is stopping the issuance of permits to reassess its supply of natural gas in relation to demand.

The stopping of permits for residential space heating and commercial space heating requirements does not affect residences which seek gas for cooking or water heating.

Illinois Power in July, 1970,

- established a system of priorities for meeting demands for natural gas. The five separate priority categories are:
1. Residential space heating and small commercial space heating requirements not exceeding 250,000 Btu per hour;
 2. Firm gas requirements not exceeding 1,500,000 Btu per hour;
 3. All firm gas requirements exceeding 1,500,000 Btu per hour;
 4. All interruptible, seasonal or other non-firm requirements not exceeding 20,000 cubic feet per hour;
 5. All interruptible, seasonal or other non-firm requirements exceeding 20,000 cubic feet per hour.

Up to now, most priority "One" requests have been met. Illinois Power found it necessary in 1970 to start controlling its natural gas when federal and state programs to control air pollution increased the demand for natural gas to a point where some priority plan was required because of the limited natural gas supply.

At the same time the company said the steady price of gas in comparison to the rising costs of other fuels resulted in an increased demand for natural gas as the best and cheapest fuel available.

Illinois Power Company, as a distributor, draws gas from five pipeline distributors, Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Mississippi River Transmission Corporation, Transline Gas Company and Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company. Towns receiving gas supplied by the latter will not be affected by Monday's decision.

Ambucs To See Newhart Film On Wednesday

The program for the local Ambucs' luncheon meeting Wednesday, May 3rd, will be a film, provided by General Telephone Company, with narration by comedian Bob Newhart.

Last week's program was given by George Manker on the Junior bowling program, also a film, with commentary. The only guest at last week's meeting, which counted an attendance of forty, was Jim Phoebeus, with Associates Finance.

At the meeting the lucky buck went to guest Phoebeus; Don Wheel received the cash for the 50-50 project and Holly Ash found the bulletin mistake.

The Ambucs will be meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night at the Jerry Taylor home. Virginia Pilcher of the VIP shop will provide the program. Speaking on fabrics, The Ambucs will be preparing salads for the Big Hat Stag, to be held later this month. The distaff members are also helping make posters which the club will use to illustrate its activities, for the exhibit at the National Convention this year. There are plans underway for a family social sometime in June.

There were a couple of victories marked up in spring practice softball games played last Sunday, with Ambucs defeating Smitty's Seat Cover team 7-2 and Wareco 6-4. More players are needed, only nine answering the call Sunday. If no details on practice are available for Wednesday's meeting, ball players should call the manager by Friday, May 5th. There are still several team shirts left for those interested, players or boosters, at cost of three dollars.

GIRL SUSTAINS MINOR INJURY

Ten-year old Sharon Baldwin of 111 Walnut Court sustained a minor injury but did not require medical treatment in a bicycle-pickup truck accident at 5:16 p.m. Monday in the 100 block of North Mainville.

Miss Baldwin was northbound on her bike and told police she waved at a friend and did not see the pickup truck until she hit it. The pickup was driven by George R. Miller, 51, of Woodson. Miller said he saw the girl riding the wrong way on a one-way street and stopped but could not get her attention until she ran into the stopped truck.

Charge Errors In Calley Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for Lt. William Calley have filed suit with the Army Court of Military Review charging the Army made 32 errors in convicting Calley of the 1968 My Lai killings.

Briefs were filed late Monday with the court, according to Calley's chief attorney, George Latimer of Salt Lake City.

Latimer refused to discuss the briefs in detail but said they raise "some questions about the methods used" to get some of the evidence.

He disagreed, however, with a copyrighted article in the Nashville Tennessean that said "manufactured" appeared in the briefs in reference to evidence.

The Nashville newspaper said command influence was cited by the lawyers as having come to bear on Calley's eventual conviction last year.

The paper said the briefs charged Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, influenced the outcome because it was in his personal interest as commander in Vietnam when the My Lai incident occurred to let the guilt stop with Calley and go no higher.

Calley was sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. A review cut that to 20 years, but Calley still had the option to appeal to the military appeals court. President Nixon has said he will make a final review of the case.

Davis Trial Hinges On 'Love Letters'

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — The "love letters" Angela Davis wrote to "Soledad Brother" George Jackson are so crucial that the prosecutor in her murder trial feels without them "we might as well all pack up and go home."

The state alleges that the letters indicate Miss Davis' passion for Jackson and may convince the jury that she entered into a conspiracy to free him from prison.

The defense contends that an 18-page letter in dispute is irrelevant to the trial because it was written a year after the Marin County courthouse shooting for which Miss Davis is charged.

The state charges that Miss Davis, 28, plotted and armed a scheme to free the "Soledad Brothers" from prison by taking hostages from the San Rafael courtroom Aug. 7, 1970. The plot failed and left four people dead.

The "Soledad Brothers" were charged with playing a prison guard and later acquitted. Jackson was slain in what authorities say was an escape attempt from San Quentin Prison in August.

Attorneys argued again Monday over whether the 18-page "stream of consciousness diary" should be admitted as evidence. The defense objected strongly to an edited seven-page version.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arneson said the 18-page diary contained much that was irrelevant, but said he would consider admitting the edited version as evidence.

Prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. said the letters contained "an honest, sincere statement" of Miss Davis' feelings for Jackson which "may convince the jury that Miss Davis had a state of mind by which she would undertake a conspiracy."

Hollywood

By GENE HANDSAKER Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Dear Michael, how you are you?" asked the letter on school notebook paper from Baton Rouge. "Fine, I hope. I love you for all seasons."

Another letter at random from a bulging mail sack was from Philadelphia "to the one I love."

The object of this schoolgirl adoration is 13-year-old Michael Joe Jackson, described by his recording company as the first singing idol for black teeny boppers. Most other rock stars from the Beatles to David Cassidy, spokesmen point out, have all been white.

How does such prominence make Michael feel? "Good." He describes his singing voice as "kinda loud." Paving fans "I like it."

Michael, baby-faced, 4 feet 11 and 90 pounds, is lead singer of the Jackson Five, brothers whose 17 million singles in two years have made them Motown Records' hottest-selling group. They've had three two-million-selling albums.

Michael's recently released album of his own, "Got to Be There," had advance orders for 350,000 copies. Two singles from it, the title song and "Rockin' Robin," have sold nearly four million copies.

Does Michael have a girl friend? "No," he grins, "too young."

The Jackson Five include Jackie, 20; Tito, 17; Jermaine, 16; Marlon, 14; and Michael. Back home in Gary, Ind., their father, Joe Jackson, was a steel mill crane operator and off-hours guitarist and songwriter. Their mother, Katherine, sang country Western.

Diana Ross saw the brothers perform at a talent show in Gary, told them their act was great and took them to Motown Records.

The family, including three sisters and another brother, lives now in a magnificent, sprawling home on 1 1/2 landscaped acres in the San Fernando Valley suburb of Encino. All of the brothers do chores—leaf-raking, dish-washing and making their own beds. Michael dusts the living room daily. His allowance of $5 a week goes, he said, for "art supplies and sometimes bubble gum."

Jackson, who manages his sons' group, said their earnings are going into trust funds. Michael plans to study art and business administration in college.

He shares a two-bed room with his brother, Marlon. A sign placed by their mother reads "Keep America Beautiful—Clean Up Your Room."

Protestant Youths Stone Army Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Protestant youths stoned Army troops and set a store ablaze Monday night but older members of the extremist Protestant Vanguard movement intervened to prevent a sixth consecutive night of all-out rioting.

Earlier Monday, the first multiple bombing in Northern Ireland's three years of secular violence killed one worker and injured 15 others, six of them seriously, in a chain of eight blasts at a synthetic fibers factory in Carrickfergus, an all-Protestant town eight miles north of Belfast.

Three states of the Union were once independent republics—Hawaii, Texas and Vermont.

She's Peeved At Guests Who Won't Use Towels

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with guests who use the bathroom but will not use the guest towels (linen or paper) provided for drying hands and instead use toilet tissue. The towel rack is right by the basin and the towels are there to be used. — MRS. V. B. B.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — There is nothing like a fresh paint job to renew the looks of a house but hands receive such treatment from strong paint thinner or similar products used to remove enamel paint from the hands. Is there something more gentle, yet equally as effective, to use for this paint removal? — MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY — Mary N. wanted to remove chocolate stains from her brocade sofa so I suggest that she try a little normal-strength peroxide (the kind bought at the drugstore) on the chocolate. I have used this dozens of times and find it always works on chocolate as it bleaches it out without damaging the material and is not as strong as bleach. — SUE

DEAR POLLY — When using this on brocade or any such fabric be sure to first test an inconspicuous spot. A commonly used formula for removing chocolate from silk or wool is two table-spoons peroxide to each gallon of water. If necessary leave this on for half an hour. Be sure to thoroughly rinse it out. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Money has to be stretched at my house so I made a crib for my tiny baby such as I learned to do when I was in nurses' training. Cribs are soon outgrown so I would like to share my idea with other girls who have to watch their pennies.

Needed for this are two straight chairs, strong cord or old nylon hose, a large sheet or blanket and large safety pins. Place the chairs with the seats facing each other and tie

Most Prevalent Among Blacks Explaining Sickle- Cell Anemia

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a black male, 24 years of age. My concern is about information about sickle-cell anemia. Is it found predominantly in the black race? Also, what are its symptoms and is it inherited?

Dear Reader—Yes, sickle-cell anemia is a disease predominantly of Africans and people of African descent, and can be inherited. The difficulty is in the iron hemoglobin chemical in the red blood cells which carry oxygen. Complex chemical compounds such as hemoglobin have a structure or form. In sickle-cell anemia, a minor variation in this chemical compound causes it to change form and distorts the shape of the blood cell to a sickle shape, hence the name sickle-cell anemia.

The deformed red blood cell is not able to pass through the tiny blood vessels in the body. When many of these deformed cells stick in the blood vessels in an area, they interfere with normal circulation in that region and may cause tissue death. This often occurs in the spleen, causing severe pain, but it can also occur in the kidney or other areas of the body.

The change in the shape of the hemoglobin can be caused by a decrease in oxygen or certain illnesses. If many cells change shape, their ability to carry oxygen is affected. This and loss of blood cells results in anemia. Individuals who have sickle-cell anemia or a significant tendency toward this problem have to avoid excessive exposure to altitude.

There are reports of blacks with this problem who have had difficulty at less than 5,000 feet. These have been individuals doing heavy physical activity. Obviously, this problem has to be considered in anyone involved in aviation or in individuals traveling to mountainous regions.

About one in 500 American blacks has this problem and about 8 percent of all American blacks have the trait; that is, they can pass on the tendency to their children even though the parent may not have any difficulty. Obviously, when two apparently normal individuals who have the trait marry, their offspring may then have sickle-cell anemia. The presence of sickle-cell anemia and the trait which can be transmitted to children can be detected with special blood tests that have been developed in recent years. While the trait isn't much of a problem, having the full-blown disease is a serious disorder and often leads to a short life-span.

I am happy to say that new research suggests that there are medicines which can be taken to avoid the acute episodes by preventing the change in form of the hemoglobin in the red blood cells. There is still work to be done on this and it is still in a study phase by a team of investigators.

Of course, if a black desired, it would be wise to have genetic counseling before marriage to CHICAGO (AP) — Another polltaker rang the doorbell again last weekend. Some people are on the lists for pornographic mail or invitations to all-expense-paid trips to Mexico to look at parking lots. I get all the polltakers.

"Hi, are you watching television?"

"Yeah."

"Who are you watching?"

"Kareem Abdul Jabbar."

"What primaries is he entered in?"

"He's not in a primary. He plays professional basketball for the Milwaukee Bucks."

"I see. Well, I'm conducting a private poll on the presidential candidates and the primaries."

"But the Illinois primary was over a month ago."

"Yes, I know. But our client is very interested in learning who you would have voted for if you hadn't voted for the man you did vote for."

"Why?"

"Well, sir, you see since there are so many clients, excuse me, so many candidates, be certain that the two marriage partners didn't both have the trait and thus transmit serious problems to their children. Ideally, to prevent this problem, individuals with the trait should marry someone who does not have the trait.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

and so many primaries, it's very likely that some candidates will drop out of the race and that would strengthen our client's position, especially if he could secretly reveal the results of a private poll showing that he would have won various primaries that he lost.

"Oh."

"So, would you mind telling me who you would have voted for if you didn't vote for the man you voted for?"

"Don't you want to know who I voted for?"

"It's immaterial. It only matters who your second choice would be. Sometimes it's better to lose in New England, the South, the Midwest and the Far West as long as you can say you were the next choice. That shows broad appeal."

"What's the difference why you lost so long as you lost?"

"I think it's like sports. It's nice for managers and coaches to say they lost because of the layoff or because of the tight schedule, you know."

"Yeah, but the fans don't believe that."

"What do they believe?"

"They believe if you lost it's because you weren't good enough."

"I'm sorry, sir. My client could never accept that as a poll result. Thanks anyway. See you after the California primary."

"You'll still be taking primary polls after the last primary?"

"Oh, sure. At least several candidates already have asked for samplings showing that most people don't believe in primary results anyway."

Cards Blow Lead, Fall To Cincy 7-6

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bobby Toland's three-run homer climaxed a five-run burst in the seventh inning, lifting the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

The 26-year-old Toland, sidelined the 1971 season with a torn Achilles tendon, tied off on reliever Don Shaw after two St. Louis bursts produced a 6-0 Cardinals lead.

St. Louis starter Rick Wise was working on a two-hitter when Cincinnati rallied for two runs in the sixth inning on Pete Rose's double followed by three singles and a Cardinals' error.

Ted Uhlaender led off the big seventh with a single, after which Wise walked Denis Menke. He was lifted after walking pinch-hitter Bernie Carbo to fill the bases with one out.

Rose drove in Uhlaender and Dave Concepcion, who had forced Menke, to draw the Reds close, then Toland unloaded his third home run of the season to right field after Shaw retired Joe Morgan.

St. Louis had kayeod Reds' starter Don Gullett with three-run salvos in the third and fourth innings, the second rally featuring a solo home run by Luis Melendez and a run-scoring triple by Lou Brock.

Frank Walker scored all three of the young Crimsuns' runs as he reached base twice on walks and once on a single. Mark DeFrates had the other two Jacksonville hits and two RBIs, while Jim Waltrip picked up the other RBI with a sacrifice fly.

Mike Manker picked up his fifth pitching win of the season against one loss as he came on in relief in the sixth inning with the score tied. The team now stands 6-3 overall with one game remaining.

Vida Returns....

BOSTON (AP) — Vida Blue, the Oakland A's young south-paw pitching sensation, got a whopping pay increase Tuesday as he ended a long holdout and signed a 1972 contract.

Blue, who received $14,750 last year as he won the American League's most valuable player and Cy Young awards in his first full season with the A's, signed an agreement for $63,000.

However, the 22-year-old left-hander fell short of his original goal of $115,000. Blue, who flew to Boston late Monday night, kept Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, American League President Joe Cronin and A's owner Charlie Finley waiting for nearly 14 hours.

He signed during a 15-minute meeting at league headquarters and then appeared at a news conference before joining the A's for a scheduled night game here.

"I'm signed, I'm happy, I'm ready to play," Blue said. "I think the team has a uniform for me, but I don't know."

"We have one," Finley assured him. Blue, who had a 24-8 record and was a big gate attraction around the league in 1971, said he had been doing "a lot of running" but probably will need "three or four weeks" before he'll be ready to pitch.

"Vida will remain with the club during the conditioning program," Finley said. "Manager Dick Williams will map the program."

Told of Williams' prediction that Blue will win 20 games this year despite the late start, Vida said: "I'll be lucky if I win 10. I'll take what I can get."

Finley said he and the A's were looking forward to Blue returning to the mound "and start winning."

"However," Finley added, "the number of wins isn't really the most important thing. The big point is just having him back with us. We hope he wins, but we're not going to rush him into anything."

Kuhn announced that Blue's agreement provides $50,000 salary, a $5,000 bonus for his 1971 performance and $8,000 "for any possible liability under a contingent four-year college scholarship" which was part of Blue's original bonus arrangement when he signed in 1967.

Ordinarily, a major league player's salary does not start until he's ready to play. However, Finley said Blue's salary would be prorated starting April 27.

Kuhn said he was "very happy" that an agreement had been reached and "I congratulate Vida and Charlie both for concessions they have made."

The negotiations appeared to fall through last Friday when Blue refused to sign an announcement of the contract's details. Kuhn stepped in the next day and, using what he called his general powers to act "in the best interests of baseball," ordered Finley to keep the offer open.

Finley threatened to withdraw the offer, charging the commissioner had "arbitrarily forced himself" into the salary dispute.

Blue's attorney, Robert J. Gerst of Los Angeles, did not accompany the pitcher to Boston. However, he said Monday night "we're not happy, but we're satisfied."

Gerst added: "We'll be back next year."

Home Run Barrage Wins For Cubs 12-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Home runs by Ron Santo, Jim Hickman and Glenn Beckert featured a 15-hit attack Tuesday which carried the Chicago Cubs to a 12-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

It marked the Cubs' biggest offensive explosion of the season and snapped Atlanta's three-game winning streak. The Cubs jumped on starter

Ron Reed for four runs in the first inning with Billy Williams driving in a pair with a single and added three more in the second as Beckert tripled in a pair and scored on a ground out.

Santo smashed his fifth homer in the fourth inning and one out later Hickman hit his third of the season. Beckert, who also had doubled in the first inning, hit his first homer of the year in the fifth.

Starter Bill Hands coasted to his first victory of the season and had a three-hit shutout going into the seventh when the Braves broke the spell on a double by Orlando Cepeda and singles by Darrell Evans and Marty Perez.

Carrollton Nets Greene County Track Laurels CARROLLTON — Paced by three double winners, Carrollton captured the 74th annual Greene County track meet title Tuesday evening. The Hawks, who have taken seven of the last eight titles, had 78 points to 52 by North Greene and 37 by Greenfield.

Dave Hobson took both hurdles events in good times. Dean Bottom netted the 100 and long jump and came in second in the 220, and John Graner bagged the shot put and discus for the winners.

North Greene's Mike Bettis set a new meet mark in the two-mile. Carrollton's Darr established a record with a blazing 23.0 220 and Carrollton broke the standard in the 880 relay with a fine 1:35.3.

Lakers, NY Renew Play Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave DeBusschere, the New York Knicks' ailing forward, was significantly improved Tuesday but remained a question mark for the third game against the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday night in the National Basketball Association's championship series.

"Phil Jackson will start," said the Knicks' coach, Red Holzman. "Whether DeBusschere plays—or how much he plays—will have to remain a game-to-game proposition."

The uncertain status of the 6-foot-6, 220-pound all-around forward, who suffered a strained muscle in his right side in the second period of the game last Sunday, has made the Lakers a favorite in the best-of-seven game series.

With the series tied at one game each, the two divisional champions renew their rivalry at 8:40 p.m. EDT Wednesday at Madison Square Garden. The game will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

With a phenomenal shooting exhibition, the Knicks won the opening game at Los Angeles last Friday 114-92 but, with DeBusschere hurt, the New Yorkers became easy victims of the Lakers Sunday 106-92.

DeBusschere, who was injured when Los Angeles' Jim McMillian rammed him on a rebound, worked out with the Knicks Tuesday morning, went to the doctor for an examination and then embarked on extensive ultra-sound and heat treatments for the ailing side.

"I felt much better," he said. "I'd like to take a shot at playing if there's no danger of more damage."

Dr. Andrew Patterson, the team physician, refused to offer the Knicks too much optimism.

Patterson said that DeBusschere might be able to perform with a pain-killing injection but such an injection would be of no value if the strain was widespread. Such an injection would aid only a localized condition.

The resourceful Knicks generally think they can win without DeBusschere although they never underestimate his value to the team.

Moving Jackson to the first string lineup would put a strain on the Knicks' depth chart. Holzman is faced with the quandary of playing Eddie Mast or Charlie Paulk or going to three guards with Earl Monroe at forward. Dick Barnett, who has been ailing with a bad back, also may be ready for limited duty.

ANNOUNCE ABA DATES NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association's championship best-of-seven series between Indiana and the survivor of the Virginia-New York playoffs will begin Saturday at Bloomington, Ind., it was announced Tuesday.

Indiana won the Western Division title Monday night by defeating Utah. The Virginia-New York Eastern Division crown will be decided Thursday night at Norfolk.

....Pepi Retires

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Pepitone, colorful and controversial most of his 10-season big league career, stunned the Chicago Cubs Tuesday by announcing he was quitting baseball.

First baseman Pepitone, 31, who seemingly found a home with the Cubs after unhappy partings with the New York Yankees and Houston Astros, requested to be placed on the voluntarily retired list as of Monday.

The action came as the Cubs were holding pre-game drills before a scheduled game with the Atlanta Braves and left teammates of the popular if unpredictable Pepitone astounded.

After announcing his decision to Vice President John Holland, Pepitone drafted a letter to be submitted to National League President Chub Feeney which said: "I hereby request to be placed on the voluntarily retired list as of this date, as I am no longer interested in playing professional baseball." Pepitone, who last season had his career batting high of .307, reportedly was chagrined about being benched recently but also had been suffering from gastritis the past week.

He told a crowd of reporters at Joe's Thing, his Near North Side tavern after returning from Wrigley Field: "I just lost my interest in baseball. It wasn't a question of whether I was on the bench or playing. It was no longer fun playing baseball and it hasn't been. Actually, this has been on my mind for about six years."

Pepitone, with a yearly salary of $60,000 said he regarded the Cubs as "the greatest team in baseball, even though they haven't been able to win a pennant."

The wig-wearing, flamboyant Pepi also praised Manager Leo Durocher, declaring, "Last year I told Leo the day after you might get fired, I'd quit. There is no other manager I'd

Bruins Go Up 2-0 With 2-1 Triumph

BOSTON (AP) — Ken Hodge rammed home a goal with just over eight minutes to play Tuesday night, giving the Boston Bruins a 2-1 victory over the New York Rangers—their second straight in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup Championship playoff.

Hodge, who had three goals in Boston's 6-5 opening game victory, converted a two-man Bruin advantage at 11:53 of the final period in this tense and slickly-played hockey game.

New York's Bruce MacGregor had gone off for tripping John McKenzie at 9:56 of the period and the Rangers had killed all but 10 seconds of the penalty when Walt Tkaczuk was caught tripping Phil Esposito and sent to the penalty box to join MacGregor.

With the Rangers two men short, it didn't take long for the potent Boston power play to capitalize on the situation.

Esposito won a face off in the Ranger end and got the puck to Mike Walton. Hodge cut for the net and jammed the puck in the corner just past New York goalie Gilles Villeneuve.

Veteran Johnny Bucyk, just 10 days short of his 37th birthday, got the Bruins on the scoreboard first with a power play goal in the opening period. Bobby Orr collected his 17th assist of the playoffs on the play, setting a single season Stanley Cup record.

Both teams tightened their defense in the middle period and the checking became more tenacious. But a brief lapse, when the Bruins had trouble clearing the puck from their own end, led to New York's tying goal, scored by Rod Gilbert.

The series moves on to New York for games three and four Thursday night and Sunday afternoon.

Key To Mint Derby Trial Surprise

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Key to the Mint, recently recovered from a racing injury, handed No Le Haze his first defeat of the season Tuesday in the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

With Braulio Baeza in the saddle, Key to the Mint went to the front midway in the turn for home and held off the late charging No Le Haze, who swerved badly inside the 18th pole.

Dr. Neale, owned by C.F. Nicholas finished third and Big Brown Bear, the pride of the A.F. Reinhold stable was fourth, both apparently earning a start in Saturday's $125,000-added Kentucky Derby.

Meanwhile, trainer R.J. Fischer announced that New Prospect and Divorce Trial were definitely out of the Derby because of injuries. New Prospect injured an ankle in his stall just before he was scheduled to run in the trial.

Dr. Hassi Shina's Lester's Jester set the early pace in the one-mile trial, that was run in 1:36 1-5 with Billy Rogell just along side and Key to the Mint running close behind the leaders.

At the three-eighths pole, Baeza sent Key to the Mint past the other horses as Phil Rubiccio called for speed from No Le Haze.

However, the winner of the Arkansas and Louisiana Derbys fell short by 2 1/2 lengths in his chase of Key to the Mint.

Key to the Mint, owned by Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, was the prime prospect from his barn for Derby honors until he suffered an injury March 15 in an allowance race at Hialeah in Florida.

Trainer Elliott Burch took him to New York, however, and said the cooler weather was bringing his horse back to top form quicker than expected.

"He was running like a snake through the lane," No Le Haze's rider said.

"He ducked in after we cleared those horses in the stretch. Then when I hit him left handed, he ducked out. I don't know what the reason was. He's never done it before," Rubiccio added.

Baeza said Key to the Mint "Got a little tired near the end, but he figured it. It was a real big race considering that he hadn't run in a long time."

Jockey Johnny Sellers said Big Brown Bear "came a-running. He wants a distance of ground and I expect the trainer will run him back Saturday."

Dr. Neale's rider, Wendell Leeling, said his colt "ran a real big race but came up a little tired at the end. We'll have to talk it over about going in the Derby, but I hope he tries."

BOSTON: Bruins' Phil Esposito battles for puck with Rangers' Jim Neilson (15) and Pete Stankowski (21) as goalie Gilles Villeneuve stands ready. Action took place during first period of second game of NHL playoff finals at Boston Garden Tuesday evening.

Yankees Erupt Early Enroute To 5-0 Shutout

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Stottlemyre, staked to five runs in the first inning, tamed California on seven hits for his first victory of the season as the New York Yankees whipped the Angels 5-0 Tuesday night.

It was the eighth straight triumph over California for Stottlemyre, who dropped his first three starts this year but has a 15-3 career mark against the Angels and has not lost to them in almost five years.

The Yankees quickly jumped on Rudy May, making his first start of the 1972 season. Horace Clarke's double, a walk to Rusty Torres and Bobby Murcer's single loaded the bases and Roy White singled home the first run.

After Felipe Alou flied out, Thurman Munson hit a two-run double to knock out May. Rich McKinney punched reliever Ed Fisher's first pitch between third and short, driving home the final two runs.

Dave Finn walked, Mike Daniels sacrificed, Steve Ring walked, Rodney Rademaker was hit by a pitch, Allen Harris reached on an error for two more and Wayne Barber legged out an infield hit for the deciding run.

Armstrong, Harris, Cox and David French all had two hits for the winners, now 2-7, while Bob Boesdorfer, Griffin, Tomlin and Schaddel poked two each for the losers, now 4-5.

MACOMB — Beardstown and Macomb split a pair of Spoon River Conference games Tuesday afternoon, the visiting Tigers notching a 5-4 ten-inning count in the opener and Macomb sweeping the nightcap 6-1.

Beardstown, now 3-8, claimed the first game with a run in the top of the tenth on walks to Jack Hamilton and Allen Taylor and Kerry Loughery's two-out single.

Robin Lewis had a pair of hits for the Tigers in the first game and Loughery netted two of Beardstown's four hits in the second.

2 Unearned Runs Allow Royals To Drop Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Kansas City scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to snap a tie and send the Royals to a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night.

The Royals, who managed just three hits off Tom Timmerman over the first seven innings, got a one-out single from Paul Schaaf in the eighth before Timmerman, 1-2, threw wild to first on Cookie Rojas' grounder. It was a three-base error, scoring Schaaf. Then Rojas came home on a sacrifice fly as Amos Ott to give Kansas City a 5-3 lead.

The Royals got a solo homer from Lou Pinella in the ninth. Kansas City scored three runs in the second when John Mayberry walked, Pinella singled and Bob Oliver clouted a 440-foot double to score Mayberry. Pinella came home on Ron Hansen's grounder and Oliver scored when Bruce Dal Canton hit into a double play.

Detroit tied it in the fourth on Norm Cash's fifth homer of the year.

Fosse's Double Lets Cleveland Tip Rangers 3-2

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Ray Fosse capped a three-run Cleveland outburst in the sixth inning with a two-run double to power the Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Texas Rangers Tuesday night.

The victory went to Gaylord Perry, 3-2, who handcuffed Texas on just four hits and struck out 12 before being removed in the eighth inning when the Rangers scored their runs.

Graig Nettles scored Cleveland's first run, singling in the second inning and coming in on Tom McCraw's triple.

In the sixth, John Brohamer singled, stole second, then scored on Alex Johnson's single. Johnson moved to third on Nettles' single and both runners scored as Fosse drilled his two-bagger to left field, knocking out Texas starter Dick Bosman, 1-3.

With two away in the eighth, Don Mincher and Hal King singled, then Frank Howard walked and Steve Mingori replaced Perry. He gave up a pinch-single by Ted Ford and a bases-loaded walk to Elliott Maddox for two runs before Ted Kublak popped out.

Will 3 Inspired Play Lakers Key

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Happy Hairston was doing the talking. He was talking about the man he feels pumps the blood into the veins of the Los Angeles Lakers. Wilt Chamberlain, who else?

"As I've said so many times before," said Hairston, "as Wilt Chamberlain goes, so go the Los Angeles Lakers."

"Not many people know about this," went on the Lakers' jumper, "but just before our sixth game with Milwaukee he called a meeting of all the players. Strictly on his own: it wasn't arranged. He thanked us all for the job we had done and said this was the greatest team he had ever played on. It was just a brief talk but you have no idea how it made us feel."

Some idea may be gleaned from the fact the Lakers went out on the Bucks' home court that particular Saturday afternoon and blew them out of the NBA playoffs. Chamberlain didn't take any coffee break in that one either. He had himself 24 rebounds and 22 points.

That performance readily can be related to Chamberlain's showing so far in the finals between the Lakers and the New York Knicks.

Wilt Chamberlain made up his mind some time ago he wants this one. What good is it if you've got everything, including a fancy pad for a million-five, and you're only one of the also-rans? Chamberlain wants this title so much, he's hoping this series goes five or six games instead of seven. He knows the Lakers' record in seven-game series since they moved from Minneapolis to Los Angeles. Zilch.

The way they started out, it looked like the Lakers might go under in four straight. The Knicks ran away with the opener, during which Jerry Lucas seemed bent on winding up with permanent possession of Wilt Chamberlain. Wilt couldn't do anything at all with Lucas in that first one. So little in fact, Bill Sharman sat him down at one point and tried to get him to go to work, and did. He drove on Lucas, got the Knicks' center into foul trouble and was a key factor under the boards with his 24 rebounds in addition to the 23 points he scored.

Lucas, limited to only 16 points, wasn't as shocked by Chamberlain's sudden turnaround as you'd think. He expected it.

"During a series like this one, your tactics and ideas change as you go along," says Lucas. "You can't keep playing the same way."

Lucas knew what he was up against even before this series started. He was up against Chamberlain and that, as he puts it, "never is any bargain."

"My primary job will be to try and draw Chamberlain out of the middle so that we can work some of our driving game," Lucas said before the first game with the Lakers. "If I'm hitting my jump shot, I'm sure it is going to cause him some concern."

Lucas was and did in the opener. He wasn't and didn't in Sunday's second one in which the Lakers waltzed, 106-92.

The Knicks are generally thought to be in troublesome straits now because of Dave DeBusschere's injury and they certainly are much weaker without him.

Los Angeles led Sunday by only one point, 51-50, at halftime, which was about the time DeBusschere no longer was of any service to the Knicks, and his man, Hairston, scored 12 of his 15 points in the third quarter.

Hairston, curiously, feels Milwaukee's Curtis Perry is tougher on him than DeBusschere. He says the Knicks' forward can't leap as high or isn't as strong as Perry.

Happy Hairston is on the right wave-length about Wilt Chamberlain, but he's all by himself in his opinion concerning DeBusschere and Perry. Ask any of the NBA coaches. They all voted for DeBusschere unanimously on the league's all-defensive team.

Managing Doesn't Interest Pee Wee

By ED HAYES

ORLANDO, Fla. (NEA) — All these years Pee Wee Reese has been fooling the public.

The little guy was out there playing with the giants of baseball, playing it cool, putting in time as captain of the Dodgers, the Southern white boy who befriended Jackie Robinson. Reese was the guy who had it all under control.

What was there to stew about? They were the carefree, swashbuckling years in Brooklyn, the 1940s and '50s.

Today Pee Wee Reese is 53 and has ulcers. "I guess I fooled a lot of people," he said.

By his own confession he was a worry wart. If things weren't going right he actually hated putting on his uniform. "There were times," he said, "when I dreaded going to bat."

That's why he's not managing a big-league club today. "I've had several offers," he revealed, "but I have no desire to manage. Maybe it would have been different if I'd stayed in baseball as a coach. But I would've worried too much, and there are so many things to worry about off the field."

A major league manager has to speak at a lot of banquets, and I never did like that, even after being in TV for two years. To this day if I have to give a speech it bothers me. It worries me until it's over.

"I'm not about to start worrying over nine guys doing that."

"Mr. O'Malley (Walter F.) always used to say I'd be a manager some day but I said no way."

In 1959 the Dodgers had a date with Cincinnati for an exhibition in Cuba. Manager Walt Alton was unable to make the trip "for some reason" and (Chuck) Dressen was at the track, so I had to manage the team. We won both games and on the flight back Mr. O'Malley said, "See there, Pee Wee! That wasn't so bad, was it?" I said, "No way, no way."

He had something else to worry about when he put his uniform away. Television. "I didn't think I would last in television," he said. "I didn't want to get into it but they talked me into it."

When Buddy Blattner broke with Dizzy Dean in '59, Gene Kirby asked Pee Wee to hook up with Diz. His answer: "My Lord, no."

But after discussing it with his wife, and Dodger executive Buzzie Bavasi, he changed his mind and uniform. "When I told Buzz what kind of money they were offering me, and a two-year contract, he said that was more money than I'd be able to make coaching for the Dodgers, so I took the job. But talking before millions of people? I knew I just couldn't do it.

"Bavasi said I couldn't turn it down, and that I'd probably foul it up anyway and could always go back to the Dodgers."

Reese did a lot of taped cramming for his debut at the mike. "To be truthful," he said, "I was terrible. On double plays I'd say second to second to first. But somehow I got through that first game in Philly — I'll never forget it — and I spent six wonderful years with Dizzy."

Dean and Reese were themselves but when NBC took over it was less fun, more statistical, more script. "When Diz and I did it we went on with nothing, we just talked baseball."

"Then for one reason or another you're out of television, but that's show business."

There's a chance he'll go back into the biz shortly but right now he's doing public relations for Hillerich & Bradsby, makers of Louisville Sluggers.

The traveling on the new job bothers him. After 35 years, he's sick of it. "After this year I'll have to sit down and figure out if it's worth it," he says.

4-H Activities

The Lucky Lassies met April 29 at the home of the leader, Mrs. Dale DeFrates. Pledges were led by Melinda White and Vickie Welker. Roll was answered by 15 members, two visitors and one guest, Mrs. Bill Suttles.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Valerie DeFrates, chairman of the bake sale, appointed the time schedule for the sale.

Don Settles, father of two members, offered to take the club members flying some weekend.

During the program, Connie Settles recited a poem and Melinda White played two songs on her clarinet.

The leader told the girls about the radio program which will be on May 6. Mrs. Bill Kirby asked the members how to judge sewn garments. The meeting was adjourned and bazaar items were made for the bake sale. First year sewing girls cut out their skirts and pop-over blouses.

The next meeting will be at the home of Vickie Welker on May 6.

How Does Kentucky-Fried Democrats Sound, Y'all?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 38-year-old millionaire who is backing a nationwide telethelethon to try to bail out the debt-ridden Democratic party is convinced that participation by the average voter is the only way to loosen the hold of special interest groups and big business on government.

"That's what's wrong in government," John Y. Brown Jr., board chairman of Kentucky Fried Chicken, said Monday. "The fact that the business interests and wealth of the country have been so involved in financing government... All this boils down to government by compromise, and what we need is leadership."

An energetic man, with a youthful look unaltered by his shock of gray hair, Brown will underwrite $1 million of the cost of the July 8-9 telethelethon for the Democratic party to be aired by the American Broadcasting Co. Total cost will be $1.25 million.

He is hopeful enough money can be raised to wipe out the Democrats' $9.3 million deficit.

Brown said he isn't "giving" the $1 million, he's "risking it." But he considers it a good risk.

Brown said he has not seriously considered the possibility that the telethelethon could be a financial flop.

"I'm confident that we will have a meaningful enough message that the American public will respond. This is the first national cause that has ever been taken to the American people via television like this. This is a very practical plea."

The plea, aimed at voters of both parties, focuses on saving the two-party system by saving a financially threatened Democratic party, he said.

The theme of the telethelethon will be "Charge, Democrats, Charge"—a theme Brown says has a double meaning, since viewers probably will be able to offer contributions through credit card accounts.

Brown said he is seeking a ruling on whether Federal Communications Commission regulations forbid the show's using paid advertising.

Scheduled to appear on the telecast are Glen Campbell, Andy Williams, Warren Beatty, Paul Newman, Alan King, Cabell Callaghan and Shirley MacLaine, Brown said.

SKILLET ASPARAGUS
The easiest way of all to cook asparagus and have them tender-crisp.

2 pounds asparagus
1 cup boiling water
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons (or more) butter

Break or cut off tough white ends from asparagus and discard. With swivel-blade vegetable peeler, remove fibrous outer covering from asparagus spears up to buds. Wash thoroughly in cold water. Arrange spears in a 10-inch skillet having half the buds at one side of skillet and half at other side. Add water and salt. Bring to a boil. Cover tightly and boil rapidly, lifting cover several times to help keep asparagus green, until tender-crisp—about 7 minutes. Drain off any water. Slather with butter. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

A letter from Baton Rouge reads in part "How should we have reached the easy no-trump game? I think my partner should have raised my no-trump bid. After all I did make two bids with my hand after he opened. He thinks my second bid of one no-trump did not show anything like my full values. Incidentally, I had no trouble making ten tricks."

The letter brings up a couple of popular misconceptions about bidding. The first is that your second bid does not necessarily show extra values. In this case South's one diamond response showed at least six or seven points. His second bid of one no-trump confirmed these six or seven and at the same time showed a maximum of ten and a no-trump type hand. Thus, North had no reason to bid over one no-trump. Ten plus 14 equals just 24.

South's correct rebid was two no-trump. This second round jump to two no-trump is not an absolute force and shows just what South held — 11 or 12 points and a no-trump hand.

It is a strong invitation to a further bid and North should accept with his nice 14. That plus 11 only equals 25, but it is silly to stop one trick short of game when you are that close to it and 25 points divided almost evenly between two hands is very apt to produce at least nine tricks.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nicks, punctures and gashes — 200,000 each year — are the unhappy result of misusing kitchen knives, the National Safety Council says.

Injuries come when knives are put to the wrong use — to pull out carton staples, open a can or pry up a lid. Slips are a common cause of knife injuries. To avoid them, grip the knife handle firmly and always cut away from your thumb or hand. And concentrate when working with a knife.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3—Born today, you possess a highly scientific mind that approaches everything in life from an analytical point of view. This is fine—so long as the things in your life are not cut on an emotional bias. Let romance enter the picture, however, or genuine love or hate, and you will find yourself in very little control of the situation, for you will not be able to handle it from a scientific standpoint, and any other standpoint will be alien to your nature. You would be wise, therefore, to spend some time enlarging horizons on other than scientific levels.

Quiet and relatively reserved in your relationships with others, you are not at all at your ease when those relationships involve a member of the opposite sex. You experience emotion deeply—but you find it difficult to deal with. At times you may cause yourself great hurt because of your inability to express yourself openly to those toward whom you feel genuinely affectionate. When your emotions are not involved, however, you are an excellent and interesting conversationalist.

You enjoy the process of argument, finding in the logical use of fact to gain your point all the fun and stimulation that others find in physical exercise. Your ability to argue on either side of a question will often stand you in good stead, for there will be many times when you will have to stand up for a particular point of view purely objectively, without being emotionally attached to any view at all.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, May 4

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Carry on with your usual Thursday activities. Toward evening you might be wise to guard against another's irritability.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Give unstintingly of your time and effort—but be a little miserly about money—at least for the time being. You may be granted a favor late in the day.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Take care that you don't antagonize your superiors by speaking your mind too freely. If you have something to say, you might be wise to "check it out" first.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Take the opportunity to do another service. You will gain nothing—but you will also be protecting yourself against loss in the near future.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Follow routine this morning. During afternoon and evening you can branch out into new and untried areas of endeavor. Relieve your mind of worry.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Meet the demands the day puts upon you—and then some. The further you can get on the present project, the sooner you will be free to indulge in new hobbies.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Take care that in shifting responsibility to stronger shoulders than your own, you don't confess to weaknesses you wish to keep secret.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Postpone travel for a while. Keep close to home during the next few days; otherwise, you may miss an opportunity for real gain.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—A matter of real estate may bring you to the attention of those who can help you move ahead quickly. Let matters develop in their own time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Important correspondence must be taken care of immediately. What you put off today you may not be able to take up tomorrow.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Cut down on expenditures before you find yourself in financial difficulties. On no account give in to a sales pitch, no matter how appealing.

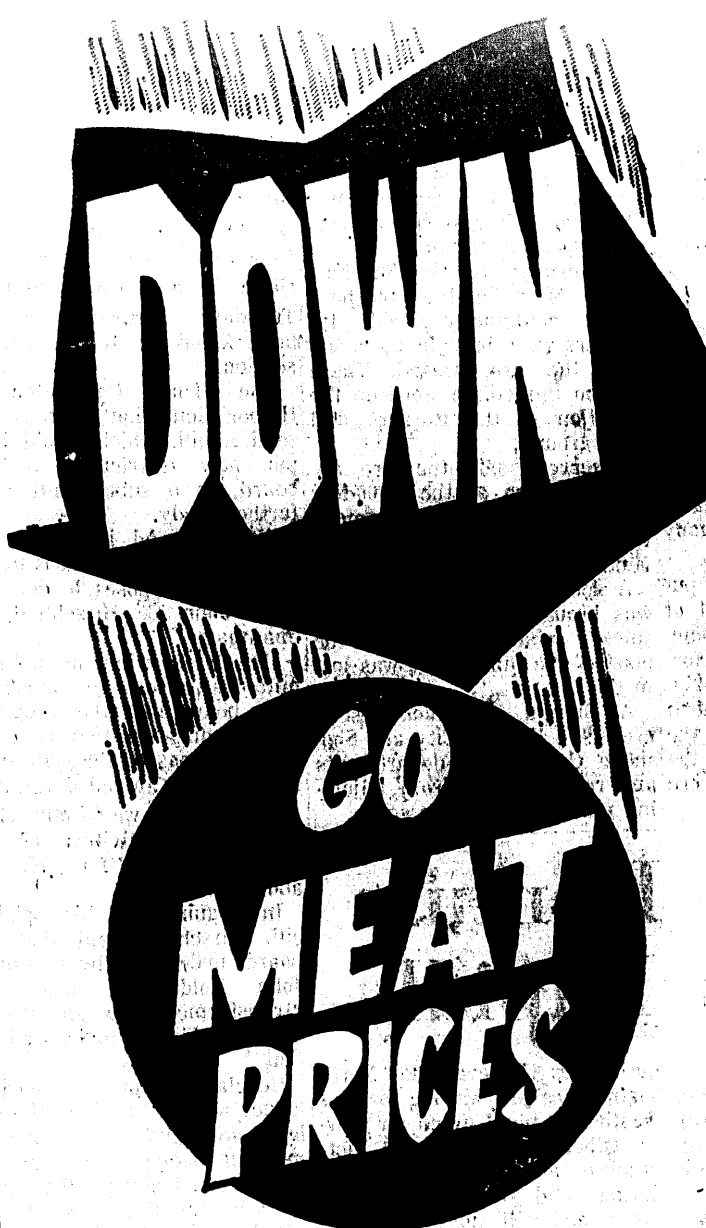

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Cement closer relationships with a partner. A good day for taking inventory of personal assets. Evening hours bring happy surprises.

BEARDSTOWN — It was the orange juice which drew all the publicity during the Apollo 16 flight, but it was Oscar Mayer and Company sandwiches that appressed the hunger of astronauts John Young, commander; Charles Duke, lunar module pilot and Ken Mattingly, command module pilot.

The OM products aboard the lunar ship included sliced cooked ham, ham and cheese and smoked turkey breast meat made into frozen sandwiches.

OM products in fact have been taken on all Apollo flights and on earlier Mercury missions as well.

Cass Board to Organize
Republicans have a one member advantage in the makeup of the new Cass county board which met for the first time to organize Monday, May 1, at the courthouse in Virginia.

Beardstown will have five members on the board which includes two women, Mrs. Esther Morrison of Arenville, who served on the board of supervisors, and Mrs. Jeanne Burrus of Beardstown, a newcomer to politics. She is a Democrat and Mrs. Morrison is a Republican.

The new board is the result of efforts which began in 1967 when the supreme court ruled certain governmental units should be organized on the basis of one man-one vote for equal representation. This means in simplest terms that federal, state and county governmental units should be organized on the basis of equal representation.

The general assembly ruled in 1970 that township governments in counties should conform. Cass county was then reapportioned, divided into 11 districts with 1,293 residents. Irregular boundaries could not be avoided in the combination of townships to equalize the number of persons in each district.

It is reported that in 1980 these lines may have to be changed on the basis of new census figures.

Rains, Good and Bad
The rains continued to send the Illinois river upward, and there was good news and bad news as a result.

Corn planting has been delayed due to wet fields, although there still is plenty of time for this chore.

The rising river was pleasing to boat owners, who can now load their barges heavier than they do at low river stage.

Farmers in some sections have already planted corn, but fields in this area are far too wet for that work now. However in these "river bottom" sections many farmers would rather wait until about mid-May to plant.

Building Construction

By BLAINE E. ROWLEE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Construction of 13 university buildings, blocked by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's freeze last year, was recommended for reinstatement Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The projected cost of these capital improvements distributed among 11 institutions exceeds $35 million.

A staff report approved by the board erased from further consideration seven other projects frozen by the governor's order and recommended construction of six more after a reduction of "horrendous" costs.

The cancelled projects would have amounted to more than $21 million.

The staff report said all projects listed, even those now canceled, already had General Assembly approval.

Donald Brown, of the Board's staff, said release of funds is imminent on some of the projects recommended for full reinstatement. He did not single them out.

Brown said administrations of affected institutions have assented to "what amounts to cancellation" of the six projects recommended for deferral.

Buildings recommended for reinstatement and their authorized costs:

—Eastern Illinois, physical plant, $457,335.

—Western Illinois' communications and security, $361,435.

—Illinois State, library, $8 million.

—Sangamon State, library, $10 million.

—Northern Illinois, library, $13,640,058.

—Southern Illinois, Springfield medical campus, medical instruction facilities $2,760,000.

—Southern Illinois (Edwardsville), classroom building, $6,523,000, and business division building $7,742,250.

—Southern Illinois (Carbondale), physical sciences center, $7,415,200.

—Illinois (Urbana), veterinary medicine hospital $9,016,320.

—Illinois (Chicago Medical Center), college of dentistry $9,327,184.

—Illinois (Chicago Circle), plant research addition $904,675 and classroom-office student services building $9,453,421.

Once-approved projects the board, in effect, marked file and forget.

—Eastern Illinois, Life sciences building, $3,543,172.

—Northern Illinois, high-rise parking structure, $2,212,500.

—Southern Illinois (Edwardsville), communications building, $4,175,000, and centennial world resources center $4 million.

—Southern Illinois (Carbondale), office building, $5,005,000.

—Southern Illinois (vocation-technical institute at Carterville), power plant $795,000 and health education complex $1,748,000.

A staff member said the vocational-technical institute is being phased out at Carterville and will be relocated on the Carbondale campus. A $2.5 million classroom building for the institute at Carbondale is one of the six projects conditionally approved Tuesday. A footnote of the report said the switch will require $1,606,534 more than the listed $2.5 million.

Also recommended for construction with modification of what Brown called, in some cases, "horrendous costs":

—Western Illinois, health services addition $497,653, and fine arts building $4,755,233.

The board approved proposed construction of a classroom-laboratory building and a physical education building including gymnasium at Southeastern Illinois College in Harrisburg.

City Of Kontum Empties Rapidly

KONTUM, Vietnam (AP) — Menaced by North Vietnamese driving south along Highway 14, the central highlands provincial capital of Kontum is emptying steadily.

Small troop reinforcements continue to come in, but thousands of civilians have fled. Thousands more anxiously flock around aircraft that touch down, seeking a seat to a safer area.

The main street presents a dismal scene. Almost all shops are barred with iron grilles or boarded up. The marketplace is deserted.

A few cafes remain in business. Their customers seem to be exclusively South Vietnamese soldiers and their shelves have few stocks other than American C rations and locally grown tropical fruits.

Many local inhabitants seen in the streets carry bundles of belongings as they search for a way out of the city. Others are packing household goods high on trucks.

For 10 days the escape route south to Pleiku has been blocked by the North Vietnamese. 95B Regiment at Chu Pao Mountain, but Tuesday civilian traffic was able to pass safely through for a short period.

Helicopters landing at pads where civilians have gathered for evacuation are rushed as they come in. American crewmen on missions, unhappily but firmly, wave off the crowds that gather around them.

"Civilians are panic stricken. They have tipped two helicopters over by clinging to the skids," said one U.S. adviser.

Big U.S. C130 transports are starting to airlift refugees out. Several times a day, 122mm rockets crash into the airport area. Often they are aimed at the C130s, especially those that bring in the fuel supplies. The pilots are alert and get off the ground within seconds of the first rocket.

Some U.S. military and civilian advisers, mostly in non-tactical positions, and government contract employees are withdrawn from Kontum to Pleiku every night, returning to the city in the morning.

No one knows when the attack will come. Some military authorities believe the North Vietnamese are waiting for bad weather to blunt allied air power. Others say the North Vietnamese are steadily consolidating and regrouping their forces and will move when this is completed.

No one doubts that there will be an attack.

CILCO Asks For Electric Rate Increase

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Central Illinois Light Co. asked the Illinois Commerce Commission at a hearing Tuesday for a $5 million yearly increase in electric rates.

CILCO's chief executive, H. A. Blair, said the firm needs the increase to build facilities to meet mounting demands for service by its half million customers.

The company serves 102 communities in the Peoria, Springfield and Macon areas.

The City of Peoria immediately entered an objection at the hearing.

The company was last granted an increase in 1961, officials said, maintaining that salaries have gone up 94 per cent and taxes jumped 106 per cent since then.

Blair said the rate increase would provide about $2.4 million added net income after taxes.

He said the company has invested about $170 million in plants since 1961 and anticipates spending about $277 million more in the next five years.

Blair said construction financing depends on bond issues and stock sales, with a fair rate of return for investors. He said 1972 financing will consist of $25 million in bonds and $17 million of preferred stock.

Blair suggested the commission should use a hypothetical future year in determining rates rather than an historical test year of actual operations.

Blair said the $277 million planned for creation of new facilities "may be low because we don't know what the costs will be for those pollution control requirements. Using a past year as a test year would be inadequate in establishing what our rates should be in the future."

Dr. John K. Langum, a Chicago economic consultant, testified that a fair rate of return on the company's investment would be 7.4 per cent.

State Assembly Mourns Death Of Hoover

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Both houses of the General Assembly mourned the death of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Tuesday, calling him "the number one law and order man in America."

"During his years as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation he forged a mighty sword which he has wielded unflinchingly in the service of his government... against the forces of crime and disorder," the House resolution said.

House Minority Leader Clyde Choate, D-Annis, said, "like all great men he was a controversial figure, but we must all agree that here was a man who loved his country."

In the senate, G. William Horsely, R-Springfield, said Hoover was a man "who has done more to preserve the integrity of this great country—to hold it together as a great republic—than any other man in recent history."

Higher Board Stifled

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — An effort to curb the activities of the State Board of Higher Education ran into heavy opposition in a House Committee Tuesday and appears to have been killed for this legislative session.

The House Committee on Higher Education voted 10-7 to send a bill, which would have put new restrictions on the board, to a subcommittee for further study.

"If you send it to subcommittee you've defeated it for all practical purposes," declared Rep. John C. Hirschfeld, R-Champaign.

Hirschfeld originally had submitted a proposal to abolish the state board altogether, but said upon finding out that he could not get it passed the committee agreed to an amended version.

The new bill would only clarify certain activities of the board, stopping far short of abolition.

In arguing for his original bill, Hirschfeld said that the board, under the directorship of John Holderman, has been "transformed into an ally of the enemies of higher education."

He claimed that the board no longer acts in behalf of the colleges and universities in recommending budget needs, but has become "a lackey for the governor's bureau of the budget."

A long list of witnesses—representing almost every facet of higher education from university presidents to a student advisory group to the board—spoke against the Hirschfeld bill.

John E. Corbally Jr., president of the University of Illinois who has had a number of disagreements with the board, said it has faults and should enlist a more competent staff in areas of budgeting. He added, however, that because of a need for statewide coordination and planning, the board is necessary.

"The costs of coordination (of higher education) in Illinois is astronomical when compared with the benefits received," he declared.

Rep. Gerald Bradley, D-Bloomington, the sponsor of an amendment which eliminated the reference for abolition, said his move "tried to make the board procedurally responsible."

"I think this amendment addresses itself to much of the criticism the board has had," he said.

Among the amended bill's provisions would have been a requirement for the board to make development of all master plans subject to a public hearing; better represent the universities and colleges in making money requests to the governor; and notify institutions of board meetings when it is pertinent to them.

The committee passed the amendment 13-3, but after further discussion selected to dispatch the measure to the subcommittee. "I doubt that a subcommittee will come up with anything in addition to this," Bradley said.

Hirschfeld, certain that the legislation will not be heard this session, added: "This is not a very subtle attempt to kill the bill."

In support of the board, Rep. Anthony Scariano, D-Park Forest, declared, "I don't want to see us go back to the law of the jungle."

Prior to the board's establishment in 1961, he added, a small group of legislators representing Southern Illinois University, the University of Illinois and other institutions "had a higher board of their own."

Among the witnesses testifying against the bill were officials from the State Board of Regents, Southern Illinois University, State Chamber of Commerce, the State Association of Boards of Trustees, the Board of Governors, the Illinois Council of Public Community Colleges and representatives of the state's independent colleges and universities.

"They (the board) put a hell of a lobbying effort out on this," Hirschfeld told a reporter after the vote.

Hoover
Clyde A. Tolson, No. 2 man at the FBI and Hoover's closest friend, became the acting director. The elevation most likely is temporary. Like Hoover, who was kept on by a number of presidents, Tolson is past the usual retirement age of 70 for government employees. He will be 72 May 23 and his health is poor.

Speculation about a permanent successor has centered, variously, on Justice Byron R. White of the Supreme Court, Robert C. Mardian, recent head of the Internal Security Division of the Justice Department, the District of Columbia police chief, Jerry V. Wilson, and Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter Pitchess.

The White House would offer no cues.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the assistant Democratic leader, told the Senate that before talk of a successor "the country ought to be allowed to mourn his passing."

Under legislation passed in 1968 the appointee will be subject to Senate confirmation.

A onetime Presbyterian choir-boy and library messenger who studied law at night, Hoover's first big job with the Justice Department was in World War I when he handled deportation proceedings against "alien agitators." He was named assistant director of the FBI in 1921 and acting director three years later, when he was 29.

Guaranteed by Atty. Gen. Harlan F. Stone that there would be "no politics, no outside interference," Hoover overhauled the bureau, adopted a policy of employing lawyers and accountants as special agents, established a central fingerprint bureau and rose to fixed national prominence after Congress broadened the FBI's role in 1932 by making kidnapping a federal crime.

In the 1930s the bureau enhanced its reputation with its role in the elimination of several notorious gangsters.

On the eve of World War II, President Franklin D. Roosevelt further enlarged the bureau's scope by directing it to coordinate all matters of "espionage, sabotage and violations of neutrality regulations."

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman added the task of checking the loyalty of more than 2.3 million federal employees.

An FBI highpoint during the war was the capture of Nazi saboteurs landed on U.S. shores by submarine. In the postwar period: the conviction of top Communist leaders; the successful investigations into the Rosenberg and Rudolf Abel spy cases.

Thus, the FBI's reputation of relentless pursuer of Communists grew. With Roosevelt's approval, FBI agents had begun to use wiretaps in instances of what Hoover called internal security. To this day, the law does not require supervision from outside the Justice Department when the FBI makes a judgment that national security may be at stake.

Growing alongside was a stereotyped image of the FBI agent—trim, short-haired, conservatively dressed and exceedingly polite but resolute.

Hoover's own life was circumspect. He lived in a two-story brick house with his housekeeper and two cairn terriers, one now blind and deaf at 17. The only indications of his prominence are spotlights at the corners.

The FBI chief usually ate his lunch at the same downtown hotel, the Mayflower. At night, slipping some bourbon on the rocks with a dash of soda, he watched television.

At times he would turn up at race tracks, placing $2 bets.

On the job, Hoover and the FBI were inextricably one. In his earlier days he would often be on hand when criminal suspects were taken into custody.

Newswires made his face as familiar as those of kings and presidents: Millions of youngsters enrolled as "Junior G-Men," receiving tin badges, handcrafts and secret decoder rings.

But in the last decade of his life, the FBI chief was an increasingly controversial figure. The FBI was alleged to have "bugged" civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Ramsey Clark, a former attorney general, accused Hoover of a "self-centered concern for his own reputation." Hoover responded that Clark was a "jellyfish."

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Everything warms up in May, they say, but not in the stock market. A look at some of the performance figures for this fifth month is chilling.

Stocks just don't seem to blossom in spring, and that is one major reason why some otherwise bullish forecasters tend to be a bit cautious in what they say right now.

There is a name for what happens in the next two months, the May-June selloff.
In every year but one since 1953 the Dow Jones industrial average has reached a lower
it attained in May.

The exception was in 1958, when the market was rising at a rate just about as fast as any since World War II.

You don't have to search for what are alleged to be explanations.

The most simplistic of these assumes that the big investors get ready for an idle summer by ridding their portfolios of any stocks that might intrude decisions on their summer play. It is sometimes called the pre-vacation slump.

Properly assessed, however,
this explanation is unrealistic.

What appears to be a more scientific explanation is offered by The Stock Trader's Almanac, which puts market activity in graph form in so many ways that you have your choice of almost any interpretation.

It claims that "the most important observation to be made from a chart showing the average monthly change in market prices since 1955 is that institutions determine the trading patterns in today's markets."

In January, April and July—the beginning of new business quarters—the Almanac claims, the institutions are active buyers.

So why isn't October also a strong month? It's a tight money month, a time for portfolio tax switching, the beginning of the new car year, the last month before election.

And what about November and December, which are probably the strongest months of all? That, says the Almanac, probably represents the action of corporate and other pension funds, which sometimes receive their funds in one lump at this time of year and rush to invest them.

Interesting perhaps, but probably of little significance this year—a presidential election year, which changes everything.

mission. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones average of 30

nearly 4 1/2 points near the start and ahead more than 1 1/2 points around midsession, finished down 7.08 at 935.20. Declines on trading.

The market declined shortly after the session's start in what brokers described as a carryover from Monday, when the Dow average dropped nearly 12 points for its biggest loss in six months.

Prices strengthened around midsession due to technical factors only to sink swiftly toward the close.

Big Board volume rose to 15.37 million shares from 12.89 million Monday. On the American Stock Exchange, volume rose to 4.17 million shares from 3.84 million Monday.

SOYBEANS DECLINE,
WHEAT PRICES EASE

CHICAGO (AP) — An export
appointing led to active selling of soybean futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

At their lowest, soybeans were 3 1/2 cents under the previous close. Soybean meal declined 75 cents a ton and soybean oil eased more than 10 points.

Wheat futures also were weak, easing 1 cent under mixed selling and corn was down around 1/4 cent. Oats held a gain of less than 1/4 cent.

Food brokers were unchanged
in very slow trade.

The government reported that soybean exports last week totaled slightly more than 8 million bushels, compared to nearly 10 million bushels for the corresponding week last year. Season to date exports are slightly more than 1 million over last year.

The trade had expected an improvement and its disappointment was expressed in a selloff in all three commodities in the complex.

The nearby May wheat option maintained a very small gain,
but deferreds were weak.

Some improvement in the weather contributed to a bearish overtone in the corn pit.
Oats, however, were independently firm.

After about an hour, soybeans were 1 1/2 to 2 cents a bushel lower, May 34 3/4n;
wheat was 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, May 1.64 1/2n; corn was unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 1.23
and oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher,
May 67 1/2n.

Of the 1,762 issues traded on the Big Board, 980 declined, and 501 advanced. New yearly highs were reached by 21 issues and lows by 102. Of the 1,208 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 654 declined, and 280 advanced.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks fell 0.34 to

Franklin Boy Killed In Motorcycle Crash Tuesday Afternoon

A 13-year-old Franklin youth was killed instantly Tuesday when the motorcycle he was riding crashed into the left front of a pickup truck five miles south of Rees Station on a narrow county road.

Samuel (Sam) Louis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith of Route 1, Franklin, was the victim in the accident and the lone rider on a motorcycle.

Investigating state police said the cycle was headed easterly and a pickup truck driven by Edward J. Flynn, 67, of 123 City Place was headed westerly at the crest of a slight hill.

Flynn told authorities he slowed the pickup truck and attempted to stop but the youth crashed into the left front of the truck, then bounced back about 12 feet.

Gun Control Foes Win In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Foes of gun-control laws won two victories Tuesday in the Illinois General Assembly.

A bill to outlaw sale and possession of handguns throughout the state was defeated by the House Judiciary Committee.

In the Senate, a first step was taken toward a statewide "advisory" referendum on repeal of the Firearms Owners Identification Act.

Hundreds of Southern Illinois gun buffs packed the House gallery and applauded enthusiastically as the committee voted 10-5 after an emotion-charged hearing to kill the handgun bill.

Rep. Bruce Douglas, D-Chicago, seeking approval for the measure, agreed to strike from it prohibitions against the sale of toy pistols. He also altered the bill to apply only to Cook County.

At the close of the two-hour hearing, though, Douglas gazed up at the galleries and said he was "emotionally adulterated" by the crowds of gun buffs "who have literally invaded my private life."

"I ask permission to change this bill back to its original form," he said. "These murderous, treacherous, deadly little weapons have no place in a humanistic and loving society."

The House liberal bloc rose en masse to support him. But Rep. Harold Washington, D-Chicago, blasted gun control. "Until we attain a much higher degree of law enforcement," he said, "the idea of disarming the citizenry is just plain, sheer nonsense."

Southern Illinois lawmakers led the attack on the bill.

Corbett Pleads Not Guilty In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State Rep. Jerry Corbett, D-Hardin, pleaded innocent Tuesday in Circuit Court to an indictment charging him with official misconduct and violating the State Purchasing Act.

Judge William Chamberlain set trial for July 3. Corbett was released on his own recognizance.

Corbett was accompanied in court by his wife and by his attorney, Robert Heckenkamp of Springfield.

Corbett, who won nomination for the Senate in the March 21 primary, was charged in connection with the sale of automobiles by a family-connected dealership to the state during 1969-71.

The transactions, the grand jury alleged, appeared to have taken place in part while he was a member of the Illinois House.

If convicted on all charges in the seven-count indictment, Corbett could face up to 15 years in jail and $19,000 in fines. His legislative office would be subject to forfeit.

The grand jury alleged Corbett has a "partnership interest" in the Corbett Ford Sales of Hardin, which state records showed sold 240 autos for more than $500,000 to the state during the three years.

For Expansion Project

By OLIVER WIEST
The way was cleared Tuesday night for the start of construction of an addition to the Murrayville School that apparently spells defeat for those who battled to keep the Woodson School open.

By a vote of 4-3, the board accepted the $33,880 bid of Neff-Colvin, Inc. for the project. Voting for the acceptance of the bid were Ivan Heaton, Jack Fairfield, Jack Kurtz and Ralph Hudson. Dissenting were Ruth Doyle, Russell Morris and Donald Colclasure.

Morris argued that the board should "gain all possible space we can get" through remodeling existing facilities rather than build new classrooms.

A motion to accept the bid was tabled last week. A meeting of Woodson residents fighting the Murrayville expansion project with the District 117 was held last Wednesday.

The board plans to close the Woodson School, which has classes for grades kindergarten through three, and relocate the students in the Murrayville School. The board has cited economic factors as the main reason for the change.

The delay in the project was mainly through the efforts of newly elected board members Colclasure, Morris and Doyle. Other bids received for the Murrayville project were from R. D. Lawrence for $84,900 and Fernandes Construction for $91,880.

Board President Ivan Heaton said the construction would begin immediately.

In other action at the meeting, held at North School, the board voted to approve soccer as an interscholastic sport over the negative vote of Donald Colclasure. Manny Velasco, who has coached the team for three years, will be paid a salary differential of $608.

Superintendent Clifford Crone, anticipating higher enrollments in the junior and senior high schools, asked the board establish four teaching positions. No action was taken on his recommendation.

The board unanimously authorized the hiring of a teacher at Graham School for the trainable mentally handicapped. The school district is reimbursed $5,000 for each teacher in the program and gets tuition of $920 for each pupil outside District 117.

The board approved the appointment of two new teachers. The board also approved the reinstatement of Mrs. Joan McCollum at Elsenhower School. She had resigned but then changed her mind.

A transfer of $50,000 from the site and construction fund to the building fund was approved by the board.

Joe Leiber, principal of North School, talked to the board about his school's program. Board members and about 20 visitors to the meeting were invited to examine the operation of teaching devices used at the school.

The board held an executive session after the meeting, presumably to discuss personnel matters.

Beer Drinking Bill Fizzles In Senate

By MICHAEL ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A drive to lower the beer- and wine-drinking age to 18 fizzled Tuesday in the Illinois Senate.

Amid warnings the bill would let high-school students "take their books down to the tavern for a noon beer," the senators refused, 28-23, to release it from a committee which has bottled it up for six months.

Even though the measure was backed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, a number of Republicans opposed it.

Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, argued that approval of the bill would help "destroy the morals of our people."

The major bloc supporting the bill consisted of Chicago Democrats.

Sen. Philip J. Rock, D-Chicago, Senate sponsor of the measure, told its foes to think not of beer-drinking high-school students but of "that same young man and those same books walking into the draft board."

"If he's old enough to march off to Vietnam with a rifle on his shoulder, he's old enough to drink beer," Sen. Charles Chew, D-Chicago, added.

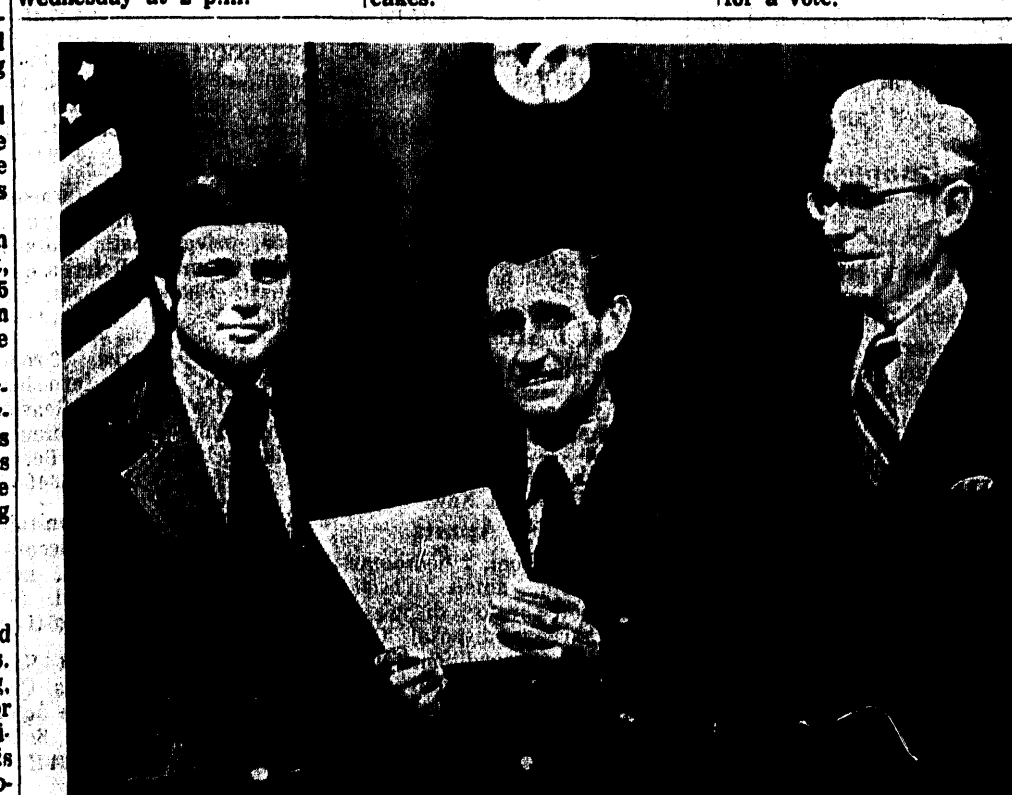

Rock said that he sees "a definite inconsistency in lowering the age to 18 without enlarging the bill to include whiskey."

"But we have to be realistic," he added. "That kind of bill would not be passed and would not be signed into law."

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie, was approved by the House last year. At that time, it would have lowered the age only for 3.2 beer.

Once the bill became locked up in the Senate Judiciary Committee, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie endorsed it and said it should be enlarged to include regular beer, wine and malt liquor.

The committee approved this amendment but refused to let the bill reach the Senate floor for a vote.

MAY IS RADIO MONTH in Jacksonville according to a proclamation signed by Jacksonville Mayor Dan F. Lahey. At left is Ron Gray, general manager of WJLH, and at right is Gerald G. Cassens, general manager of WLDS and WEAL-FM. The three local radio stations will join with 6,000 other stations in the United States in observance of the event. Several special programs will be aired during the month calling attention to the community service and entertainment value of the media.
